U.S. Government Contracts Fiscal Year 2025

Every year the United States Government awards contracts and grants to businesses, organizations, and foreign governments all over the world. Theses grants and contracts help satisfy the needs of the U.S. Government in many ways. There are many agencies within the U.S. Government that have the authority to award contracts to businesses and foreign governments, such as the Department of Energy, Department of State, and The Department of Defense, just to name a few. This project provides a visual representation of these contracts as listed in the fiscal year 2025 Award Data Archive which can be found here: https://www.usaspending.gov/download_center/award_data_archive

The full Data Dictionary for this data can be found here: https://www.usaspending.gov/data-dictionary

First, I downloaded a CSV file for fiscal year 2025 from the link listed above. Next, I created a database and a table on my local machine in Microsoft SQL Server Management Studio using the column headers from the CSV file. Then I wrote a python script to read the CSV file and insert the data into my SQL Server database. Finally, I wrote an SQL query utilizing the CASE statement to pull only the columns that i needed for this report, and i exported the results as a CSV file and loaded the file into PowerBI.

Here is a table containing the fields used in this report, along with their data types and a brief description:
